[ TEXT-ONLY ]

ONLINE HERE: <https://businessplan.visitbend.com//>

Thank you for taking the time to view Visit Bend's annual business plan. Operating under a contract as the Destination Management and Marketing Organization for the City of Bend, Visit Bend is entrusted with leveraging a portion of room tax funds to make our community a better place for everyone. We're tasked with crafting engaging and thoughtful campaigns, facilitating grants that nurture Bend's tourism infrastructure and culture, conducting vital research, and managing a welcoming visitor center. Through these initiatives, Visit Bend maximizes revenue for the City's vital services, taking care of the places that take care of us while prioritizing positive impacts on the industry and the community.

1: ACKNOWLEDGING HISTORY

While Bend is breathtakingly beautiful, our history isn't as pretty. The indigenous tribes of this region fished, hunted, and recreated on these lands for generations before any of us donned skis or dropped a kayak in the Deschutes.

This history is not lost on us, and we recognize we're inhabiting and recreating on the traditional lands of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs, Wascoes, and Paiutes. We are working to acknowledge their experiences and their relationship to this land.

2: INTRODUCTION

Visit Bend contributes to a vibrant community through initiatives in destination management and marketing that focus on the economic, social, and environmental health of the town and its environment.

Driven by the transformational power of human relationships, the inclusion of diverse voices, and a desire to preserve the land for which we are all stewards, Visit Bend is a local and national catalyst for tourism management with a positive impact.

In a world consumed by possessions rather than experiences, the Visit Bend team strives to amplify the voices of those working toward a welcoming and balanced Bend, reinvesting in our community for future generations while maximizing room tax revenue for a thriving city government

3: SUCCESSES FROM FISCAL YEAR 2024

In FY24, Visit Bend held steady on its commitment to long-term sustainability as a thriving destination. With room taxes and occupancy rates stabilizing—and even declining due to reduced marketing spending and factors like weather—the team continued to focus on balanced, sustainable destination management. Visit Bend launched a new website, providing a modern user interface and content spotlighting responsible tourism efforts and industry partners. The Bend Sustainability Fund granted nearly $700,000 to local projects, improving accessibility and overall experience for locals and residents. The Bend Cultural Tourism Fund granted $400,000 to cultural events and organizations. Visit Bend became the first official destination partner with Leave No Trace and was named as Leave No Trace’s Destination Partner of the Year. These efforts will positively impact our community for years to come and are just a few examples of Visit Bend’s successes in FY24.

MARKETING

In FY24, emerging from a pandemic-related break in destination marketing efforts, Visit Bend sought to re-balance positive economic, social, and environmental responsibilities. Marketing strategy infused earlier stages of the customer journey to once again ensure Bend was top of mind as a vacation destination in the Pacific Northwest.

As part of that approach, Visit Bend produced and launched a series of twelve season-specific TV commercials delivered digitally to potential visitors in Portland, Seattle, and other areas of the Pacific Northwest. Visit Bend’s successful marketing programs incorporated more diverse content creators and increased the volume of responsible and inclusive content.

Based on data related to visitor sentiment, Bend remains one of the most highly-indexed communities in the world, with a positive reputation among visitors and residents alike. These metrics are based on billions of conversations happening around the web and analyzed to create this index.

High-level metrics from FY24

- Visit Bend's new website engagement time per session is up 32.09% year over year, and the engagement rate per session is up 17.9%. The primary drivers of traffic include organic search, direct, and social/referral.

BEND SUSTAINABILITY FUND

During FY24, the Bend Sustainability Fund (BSF) invested $691,672 into eight projects and celebrated the completion of six. Since its inception, BSF has awarded $2,980,000 to 25 projects creating sustainable experiences in and around Bend.

The $400,000 Bend Sustainability Fund grant to Petrich Properties for The Catalyst project has been a catalyst of its own, spurring additional investment in the Bend Central District, which will eventually house City of Bend offices and be connected to Downtown Bend via the Hawthorne Crossing pedestrian bridge. The Catalyst community gathering space—which is strongly supported by Bend Central District business owners, urban planning nonprofits, and the City—will be the new home of Dogwood Cocktail Cabin and a food cart pod. The Catalyst project is one example of how Visit Bend is reinvesting Transient Room Tax (TRT) to unify diverse members of the community working toward a common goal.

BEND CULTURAL TOURISM FUND

During FY24, the Bend Cultural Tourism Fund (BCTF) invested $400,000 in 15 cultural events and projects, helping local organizations leverage marketing resources to attract more cultural tourists during the off-season and enhancing arts and culture offerings in Bend. The program started awarding grants in 2015 and historically funds between $200,000 and $400,000 per year. This round of awards pushed the total BCTF funding over the $2 million mark, infusing local organizations with $2,032,105 in total.

4: A BALANCED BEND: VISIT BEND'S ECONOMIC, SOCIAL, AND ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY MODEL

Visit Bend is a small but mighty group of passionate people (and dogs) who still get goosebumps as they glimpse the Cascades peeking out over the high desert. Humbly behind the scenes but deeply networked, the Visit Bend group is a curious, quiet, steady force to be reckoned with. We've chosen a new lane in the tourism sector—a new “why” that is less about self-promotion and more “let's do this because it's the right thing”—when it comes to supporting the place we call home. Visit Bend strives to tell the story of improving a destination and managing the visitor experience in ways that are meaningful to residents and visitors. We do this through research, relationships, and strategic communications that both disrupt and influence how people think about the industry. Considering all humans are visitors on these lands, Visit Bend values a bigger picture of health for the community. We believe if you love Bend, you might also love visitors, since we are all travelers at heart.

SEEKING BALANCE

Economy:

Tax revenue

Consumer spending

Wages earned

People:

Equity + Accessibility

Resident sentiment

Guest satisfaction

Place:

Environmental stewardship

Responsible recreation

Thriving spaces

A Balanced Bend approach exemplifies the ideal model for regenerative tourism that intertwines economic prosperity, environmental stewardship, and social well-being to foster a cycle of sustainable growth and investment. Economic impact, driven by visitors contributing through transient room taxes, sets the foundation for this cycle, enabling Visit Bend to support our social fabric and invest in environmental conservation.

This important funding source from our visitors not only empowers the City with greater flexibility in spending through the general fund, but also supports our natural spaces, community initiatives, and infrastructure that enriches Bend for residents and visitors. As we nurture our environment and community, we cultivate a more compelling destination, thus attracting further visitation and continuing this regenerative cycle. A Balanced Bend not only sustains, but regenerates and ensures a thriving community that benefits visitors, residents, and the world around us.

Visit Bend's Adaptability in Serving the Community

Over the years, Visit Bend's adaptable, community-oriented, and visionary team has successfully shifted resources and priorities to meet the needs of the industry and city. The City's general fund receives nearly 65% of all room taxes generated. Visit Bend's skilled team is uniquely qualified to leverage the remaining 35% of restricted funds to maximize returns for a thriving community. Coming out of the recession in 2010, Visit Bend was tasked with rebuilding our economy. As Bend became vibrant again, tourism led the economic recovery charge with the launch of one of the first TRT-funded community arts and culture grant programs, the Bend Cultural Tourism Fund. In response to community concerns in 2017, Visit Bend launched several stewardship programs including the Bend Pledge and the Visit Like a Local program. While those two programs have since sunsetted, they introduced a more balanced approach to Visit Bend's work. In 2021, Visit Bend hired a Sustainability Director and appropriated a significant portion of its budget to environmental and social efforts, including the Bend Sustainability Fund and Strategic Partnership programs.

5: MARKETING STRATEGY

[ ECONOMY ]

Visit Bend has evolved to focus on a broader scope of work that ultimately benefits all of us as we strive for a balanced Bend.

There is no doubt visitors contribute in many ways to making Bend better for all, and we don't have to look much further than their economic impact. When visitors stay in a hotel or short-term rental, they pay an overnight tax that becomes unrestricted funding for the City of Bend. This past year, those unrestricted dollars supported police and fire, roads and other infrastructure, and core services provided by the City.

This economic activity—along with the goal to maximize returns to the city's general fund—drives the economic portion of Bend's sustainability model. A strong visitor economy is critical to the city's health and vibrancy, which is buoyed by Visit Bend's grant programs and strategic partnerships. This year's evolved marketing strategy keeps these objectives in mind as we strive to attract new guests while ensuring Bend remains top-of-mind for repeat visitors.

COUNCIL GOAL ALIGNMENT

Maintain public safety service levels to keep pace with increasing calls and expanding range of service demand

---

In FY25, Visit Bend's marketing team will build upon its new This is Bend campaign and offer more in-depth targeting and measurement tools. In January 2024, Visit Bend launched a new industry-leading website designed to deliver a much-improved visitor experience and connect users to the community of Bend. The new website improves the visibility of industry partners and serves as an integral part of Visit Bend's strategy in FY25. Harnessing the power of generative AI and advanced datasets, Visit Bend's marketing efforts will be more optimized than ever, re-establishing the organization as a leader in this space.

COUNCIL GOAL ALIGNMENT

Develop and implement a language access policy and program

To have a larger impact with FY25's proposed budget, Visit Bend will focus most of its paid marketing efforts on markets in Portland and Seattle. This will also curtail the carbon footprint required for travel to Bend. Over the next year, the team will evaluate additional opportunities to target travelers seeking a new experience.

Despite weather-driven tourism declines in FY24, travel remains in high demand among consumers nationwide. Recent data shows 35% of Americans intend to travel more in 2024 than in 2023, with another 47% saying they plan to travel the same amount. Coastal states, including

Oregon, rank as the most desirable to visit in the coming year, with 49% of respondents wanting to visit the PNW. 60% of respondents expecting to travel domestically in the coming year seek a mountain and forest experience. These data points show Bend is well-positioned to attract visitors in FY25.

This approach to our messaging and demographic targeting—including when and to whom our messaging is served—will ensure a balanced approach to courting new and returning visitors.

Throughout FY24, we engaged in meaningful dialogues with state and regional partners, including DMOs, lodging partners, elected officials, tour providers, and educational institutions. These conversations sought to help us understand the landscape of our tourism sector and to identify ways we can make Bend even more welcoming and accessible.

Building on these conversations, Visit Bend has strengthened partnerships with organizations like Oregon Adaptive Sports and Wheel the World. Our goal is to remove barriers to accessibility so everyone can experience the beauty and adventure our area offers.

As we move forward, our partnerships and projects are guided by a steadfast dedication to making Bend a model of inclusive tourism. We measure our success not just by the reach of our DEIB training programs among staff and industry partners, but by tangible improvements in accessibility for individuals experiencing disabilities and for historically marginalized communities. With a focus on inclusive events that diversify Bend's cultural landscape, the BCTF was one of the first DMO-operated arts and culture grant programs in the state. From musical productions to art exhibits to film festivals and more, the BCTF supports cultural opportunities that draw visitors to Bend, while also providing enriching programming for residents.

These efforts reflect our dedication to ensuring tourism contributes positively and sustainably to Bend's livability and way of life.

7: ENVIRONMENTAL STRATEGY

[ PLACE ]

Visit Bend's environmental strategy intertwines with our two other pillars of sustainability: economic and social. Our community depends on all three, and it's vital to balance them.

The foundation of a sustainable and thriving destination is built on its underlying resources. For Bend, these include open spaces, rivers and trails, mountains, lakes, and green spaces. It's crucial to nurture, respect, and invest in these resources. To create a sustainable destination, we must work collaboratively with a diverse group of partners, keeping a big-picture view and making meaningful investments in the organizations and individuals equipped to tackle the challenges our growing community faces.

Visit Bend is proud to have achieved carbon-neutral certification in FY24, through an investment in the Zumwalt Prairie Carbon Collaborative. We were also honored to be invited to join a ten-destination cohort assembled by Destination Think, which will collaborate over the next three years to enhance community health environmentally, socially, and economically. Joining with destinations like Copenhagen, Denmark, and Queenstown, New Zealand, Visit Bend will work to advance stewardship and global sustainability through travel. Visit Bend also partnered with Destination Think to produce a six-episode series for the Travel Beyond podcast.

Moving into FY25, we will continue to reinvest TRT dollars into the places and spaces that create sustainable experiences in our community through the Bend Sustainability Fund. This model of regenerative tourism directly links visitor generated tax dollars to the underlying assets that make Bend a premier destination.

We will also continue to fund partners who help us achieve our environmental goals through our Strategic Partnership Program.

Community members and industry leaders may not always agree on the best way forward, but we're unified by our deep love of Bend.

The Visit Bend team vows to use our time, talent, and resources to support a future for Bend that is sustainable, economically vibrant, livable, and inclusive.

TRANSIENT ROOM TAX COLLECTIONS

Transient Room Tax (TRT) serves as the primary measurement of the ebbs and flows of the tourism industry. Because our demand-driven industry is heavily impacted by economic and environmental disruption, TRT is a blended metric of rate and occupancy, effectively approximating the overall demand for the destination's lodging inventory.

In the City of Bend, a TRT of 10.4% is levied on all overnight stays of less than 30 days and is collected by our lodging operators. That money is then remitted to the city on a monthly basis, where approximately 35% is reinvested into the promotion of tourism and tourism-related facilities under a contract with Visit Bend. The remaining 65% is allocated to the city's general fund and police + fire.
